From Florence.

A correspondent advises us of the great success of the Ewing road from Florence to Infantry Camp. He says: Thos. R. Ewing and party, consisting of our most active citizens, and a train of 13 wagons loaded with commissary stores, started from M.
L. Stiles' farm on the Gila, early on the 13th, and arrived at Silva Station, (Ewing's) on the 14th, a distance of 28 miles, making an excellent highway as they advanced. On the 15th, Mr. Ewing led 70 pack mules over the trail to Infantry Camp, 12 miles, making the trip in five hours. Parties who have returned, report the road a first-rate new one; also the trail is good for pack animals. Mr. Ewing deserves credit for his vigorous energy in opening this road.

IN answer to many inquiries we will say that the Denver and Rio Grande railway, starts from the depot in East Denver, passes through the river front portion of town, up the Platte river and Plum creek and so on south into New Mexico. It is to be of thirty inch gauge. The line is being located; camps and stations established; contracts will soon be advertised and work will be pushed vigorously. Its completion to the Fontain-qui-Bouille near Colorado City, is promised by June next. By the close of the year it will probably reach the line between Colorado and New Mexico.— Denver News.

THE San Diego Union of Jan. 19th, has this item of interest to our merchants: Gordon, Stewart & Co., have shipped a large quantity of goods to Arizona this week, comprising freight for E. N. Fish & Co., and Goldberg & Drachman, Tucson; W. Richard & Co., Pima villages; and a large lot of liquors for J. S. Spann, Arizona City.
Nearly all the light goods for the Territory are now going this way.

From Arizona City.

Our correspondent writes, January 16th, that no news had been received from the brig Laura.

is reported to be coming in order to settle the difficulty that occurred at Algodones some months since.

THE San Diego Bulletin of 21st, says: Col. Morrow arrived in this city on Wednesday last and left here on Friday for Arizona. Gen. Frank Wheaton arrived in San Diego on Wednesday, and leaves for Fort Yuma this evening.

THE Santa Fe Post, of January 13, says, "the Indians recently run off four mules belonging to Bennett & Co., on the mail route between La Mesilla and Tucson.

THE Senate has confirmed Porter as Admiral by a vote of 30 to 10.

GEN. STONEMAN'S REPORT.

A Washington dispatch, to the New York World, gives a summary of and extracts from this document, from which we reproduce the following:—

Colonel Stoneman says he made a thorough inspection of the whole Department of Arizona, and a careful examination of all the points of importance within its limits as far as time and circumstances would allow.
He assumed command on the third of May, 1870, at which time there were eighteen posts in the Department, and since then three of these have been discontinued. He now recommends the concentration of troops at eight posts, that the Quartermasters' depots, except Yuma, be broken up and the civil employees discharged. This, he says, will increase the efficiency of the command, and aid the Department Commander very much in his efforts to reduce the current expenses of the Department. The posts thus reduced in number, there would remain Camps Verde, Thomas, Grant, Bowie, Hualpai, Date Creek, Mojave and Yuma, and their importance would, in his opinion, be in the order in which they are named. The first three are located in the heart of hostile Indians.
The next three are located on three of the greatest mail routes and highways through the Territory, and the last two are infantry posts, and are located on the Colorado river, and have control over the River Indians. Colonel Stoneman says: "The posts and depots recommended to be discontinued are expensive, and can be dispensed with advantageously to the Government, and without other detriment than a pecuniary one to the people of the Territory in their immediate vicinity, who, of course, will object, as they will be unable, as heretofore, to dispose of their hay, grain, etc., to the Government, at the usual exorbitant prices."

ECONOMY AND SUPPLIES.

After alluding to the cost of keeping up several posts, the use of which has long since ceased to be a necessity, he says that the most rigid economy has been practiced, the purchase of forage limited, and the purchase of lime, coal and fuel stopped at all points not depots.

Col. Stoneman next alluded to the efforts of the contractors to take advantage of the situation of the troops and demand the most exorbitant prices for fuel, forage and beef. The class of quartermaster's stores furnished the Government for the use of troops in this department appears to be on a par with the supplies furnished the poor Indian. "Take, for example, oak lumber, sent out for the purpose of repairing wagons, etc. In some cases, observation authorizes me to state that, instead of good, tough white oak having been furnished, the poorest kind of red-oak, fit only for firewood, has been supplied. The glass is blistered, warped and discolored to such an extent as to be fit for use only in Arizona. Stationery, with the condemnation mark starting one in the face, is considered good enough for use in this far off region. Water buckets, invoiced as 'gutta percha,' turn out, upon inspection, to have been made of paper. Blankets, marked 'woolen,' proved to have been manufactured from buffalo hair gathered on the plains, and so on to the end of the list.

INDIANS DOMESTICATED AND HOSTILE.

It will be proper to state, that, since the organization of the Department, the Hualpais, Mojaves or Yavapais, and Coyotero Apaches, have become quiet, and are fast becoming domesticated. Gachies, with his band, which during the past eight years, has caused great trouble, has expressed a wish to go on a reservation, become quiet, and be let alone. There remain now but two branches of the great Apache nation in Arizona, that are in open hostilities, and measures are being taken to bring them to terms.
These two are the Tontos and Pinals.
No treaties or promises have been made, except to assure them all that as long as they behave themselves, they will not be molested, but if they misbehave they will be pursued and punished. The Apache nation in this region, as compared with what I knew of it more than twenty years ago, is nearly harmless, and their destination is great in the extreme. They must either starve, steal, or be fed, and as they are unwilling to do the former, it becomes simply a question as to which is the best policy—feed them, or continue the endeavor to prevent them from stealing. The Chimahueves, and that portion of the Mojaves not on a reservation, though well disposed toward the whites, are at war with each other, and a few weeks since, had a battle, in which quite a number were killed and wounded on both sides. The Yumas and Pautes are also peaceable and well disposed. The Pimas and Maricopas, both semi-civilized tribes, and a fraction of the Mojaves, are on a reservation, under the control of Indian agents. Besides those above named, there are a few stragglers, belonging to no particular tribe, who prowl about in small parties, stealing, as opportunity offers and necessity dictates. In conclusion, it gives me pleasure to be able to express the opinion, that Indian, as well as other affairs in the Department are in as satisfactory a condition as can reasonably be expected.
